How can I separate services of different APs with the same SSID?

Problem Description

How can I separate services of different APs with the same SSID?

Solution

To separate services of different APs with the same SSID, execute the service-template service-template-name vlan vlan-id command to assign clients accessing different radios to different VLANs.