No, Till now, H3C Switch Can NOT support authentication to IP Phone.

both the MAC address and 802.1x authentication at same port are for PCs, nor for IP PHONE, When Voice VLAN is enabled, IP-phone will be automatically assigned to the Voice VLAN without authentication.

If the user disables the Voice VLAN function, IP-phone can be authenticated by using IP-phone's MAC address. On this situation, IP phone is just like a normal PC, but QoS is a problem, user and network designer need to consider and notice this.
