What's function of voip timer voip-to-pots?

Q: What's the function of voip timer voip-to-pots command?

A:

If user configures voip and pots entities and both of the entities can match user called telephone number, and if voip entity has the priority, voip entity will be selected at first. If voip fails, Pots entity will be selected. The command describes the switch timer from voip to pots. If the timer is set to a short value, the result will be fail to call.
