

知 What's the difference between MSR system domain and L2TP access domain?

纪合宝 2009-01-15 发表

What's the difference between MSR system domain and L2TP access domain?

Q: What's the difference between MSR system domain and L2TP access domain?

A:

The default system domain is used for AAA authentication. The L2Tp domain is used for starting calling. If L2TP calling user name don't have domain name, which cannot be counted system domain calling and must use FullUsername method.